Farley Attacks Hoover Speeches

HARTFORD, Conn — James A. Farley, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee defended the New Deals spending program in a speech here Wednesday night and termed former President Herbert Hoover a "Prophet of Disaster.'.

"Mr. Hoover," Farley said, "Sees a ghost behind every tree and he plants a straw-man in every cornfield. He sees a great decline in public morals sihce the public saw fit to retire him to private life."

Farley spoke from the same platform from which Mr. Hoover two weeks ago assailed the administration.

"Now Hoover is an authority on wrecked republics," Farley said. "Apparently he is the only man in the country who forgets what was hapening in this great country when he stepped out of the White House on the bleak day of March 4, 1933.

The New Deal had "spent billions of dollars to rebuild America," Farley said." The Government which declined to use its credit to provide food, shelter, clothing and a means of employment to millins of honest citizens in a time of emergency would be unworthy of the confidence of a free people.

Republicans policy, he said, were claiming a gain of 80 seats in the house in next week's elections; but privately, they "hope to gain between 40 and 50 seats" and actually they are dooomed to disappointment for the fourth consecutive time in a national election.

Two Die As Result Of Accident On 51

Ben Davis, of Pleasantdale, near Oxford, and Borden L. Deal, of New Albany died at Grenada Hospital as the result of injuries received when their light truck left the road, near the Little Ritz, Tuesday, crashed into a tree, and partly burned.

Deal succumbed to the effect of burns at 8:30 Tuesday, four hors after the accident. Being apparently imprisoned by a tarpalin which covered the bed of the truck, he was severely burned from his waist up.

Davis, the driver, whom it is believed fell asleep due to the long trip h had takne in search of work, passed away at 9:30 Wednesday morning. He sustained fractured skull, possibly a broken neck and otehr broken bones.

The condition of Loyd Champion, of Oxford, is regarded serious by hospital attendants. He sustained a head injury, and a broken leg.

Others who were in the truck and received injuries which are believed to be of a less serious nature were: Marcus Laurel, of Oxford, Leroy Decanter, Rocky Ford, Earl Sparks, Etta, and Willie Woods, Oxford. Woods has been removed from Grenada Hospital.

Highway Patrolman, H. T. Lee, who made an investigation immediately after the accident said that the men, former employees of the government at Sardis dam had been to Jackson in search of work, Monday night, had lost a night's sleep, and apparently, the driver, Davis, went to sleep.

The car which was badly demolished, left the pavement, and ran on earth 84 yards before hitting a tree which halted it.

Passing motorists assisted Garner Brothers' ambulance in bringing the injured to Grenada Hospital.

Tackett Is Taken From His Bride, 10

PRESTONBURG, Ky.—Fleming Tackett, 34, a Kentucky backhills miner, faced preliminary hearing today on a charge resulting from his marriage to a 10-year-old girl. Conviction could net him a possible life term in prison, even death.

He came out of hiding in the hills last night and surrendered at the sheriff's office. He was locked up in the county jail charged with "rape of a child under 14"

That was an anti-climax to action taken by the state to show the hill-folk that Kentucky will not tolerate child brides. But even as he was being locked up, county authorities at Ashland ordered the arrest of William Howard, 60, while they investigated charges his bride of last April also was less than 14, the minimum age under Kentucky law that a girl can marry. Howard's wife, Ruth Greech Howard, was instructed to appear before Judge George Bells in juvenile ccurt today.

Held in jail with Tackett was Mrs. George Columbus, mother of his child bride, Rosie Columbus Tackett. The mother and daughter were taken into custody Monday near Paintsville.

A six-man jury deliberated only four minutes yesterday, before finding the girl a delinquent. Jurors ordered her sent to an orphanage at Lyndon. Her mother protested, but finally picked up a pen and reluctantly markel an "X" on the commitment papers, signifying her approval. She can not write.

Later she went before Judge Edwin Hill and waived examining trial on a charge of "conspiacy to commit rape." She was bound over to the Grand Jury under bond of $1,000 and returned to jail.

New Deal Issue In Election Tuesday

WASHINGTON — Issues of the New Deal or pension plans dominate the most spectacular state campaigns today in the final burst of general election activity.

In such states as Ohio, New York, Michigan and Pennsylvania the New Deal issue is on test.

California leads the so-called "Funny Money" parade with a a new appeal to the oldsters who are rallying to it as they did for the earlier $200-a-month Townsend plan. California's streamlined 1938 pension proposal is for $30-every-Thursday to idle persons over 50 years of age. Culbert Olson and Shridan Downey, Democratic nominees for Senator and Governor respectively won in the primary with $30-Thursday supporters.

Gov. Frank Merriam and Phillip Bancroft, an anti-New Deal rancher are their opponents. While they attack the $30-every-Thursday plan, Merriam has endorsed the Townsen old age pension plan. Organized labor is divided with Lewis, C. I. O. leader endorsing Olson and Green of the AFL endorsing Merriam.

The New Deal as well as pensions is a factor in California and labor prisoner Thomas J. Mooney is campaigning for Olson because he says Olson would pardon him. California's House of Representatives delegation now is divided as follows: Democratic, 15; Republican, 4; Vacant, 1. No major Republican house gain is forecast by preliminary polls.

But among the big industrial states of the northeast quarter of the United States surveys and polls indicate that Republicans will make congressional gains. Some Republicans believe their overall advance in membership will exceed 70 seats. The least figure suggested is around 25. If it is worthwhile for Democrats to gain the governorship in California, it is vital that they stand off Republican thrusts in Ohio, New York, Michigan and Pennsylvania where state capitols now are in Democratic control.

There is no senatorial contest in Michigan. Pensions are a minor issue. Small Republican house gains at most are forecast by observers. But the New Deal is having the fight of its life there to continue Gov. Frank Murphy as governor. President Roosevelt jumped into that contest last week with a blunt charge that the house committee investigating un-American activities "permitted itself to be used in a flagrantly unfair and un-American attempt to influence an election. Mr. Roosevelt was protesting testimony challenging Murphy's actions during sitdown strikes in Michigan automobile factories. The committee is controlled by Democrats.

Capture Remnants Of Outlaw Gang

SAN ANGELO, Texas—Two men and a woman, captured by a West Texas posse and charged with armed robbery, were identified today as relatives or followers of the old Hamilton and Barrow brothers' gang—the worst of the Southwest's modern outlaws.

Authorities believed that the captures had ended at its outset a new alliance of the old gang's survivors.

The prisoners were Joe Carson, 24, brother-in-law of the late Raymond Hamilton; Olive Miner Smith, a police character and once a follower of the Hamilton-Barrow gang, and a 21 year old woman believed to be Marie Barrow Francis, sister of the late Clyde and Buck Barrow.

BRINGING HIM BACK ALIVE

Japan Asserts Her Rights To Rule China

By RAY MARSHALL
United Press Staff Correspondent

TOKYO—Prince Fumimaro Konoye, the premier, in a speech broadcast to the nation today demanded a World New Deal to establish peace on the principle of a fair balance of power.

Interesting and amplifying a previous government statement of Chinese policy, Prince Konoye announced that if necessary Japan would extend its conquest to southwestern and northwestern China to crush resistance and prepare the way for Far Eastern stability.

He reaffirmed the government's intention to insist on a tripartite relationship of "mutual aid and coordination between Japan and Manchuruo and China in the political, economic, cultural and other fields," as the government statement had put it, and went on:

"The world now needs establishment of peace on a fair balance of power."

Various principles in the past had forced maintenance of the status quo in an unbalanced state, he said.

"That international treaties like the covenant of the League of Nations have lost their prestige, is fundamentally due to this irrationality.

"Without making international justice a written code, a new peace fabric must be formed which can keep pace with the progress of history, with a comprehensive viewpoint concerning all phases of human life—commerce, emigration, natural resources, culture.

"We believe that the only means of breaking through the current general crisis lies in perfecting these conditions."

Thus the government statement of last night was extended to embrace a world policy in which Japan presumably would be united firmly with the other "have not" nations, including her allies of the German-Italian - Japanese "anti-communist" front, and at the same time would reserve for herself the future of vast China with its untold wealth, its 450,000,000 people and its 4,480,000 square miles of territory, regardless of such nations of Great Britain, France and the United States which have interests in China.

Prince Konoye started by saying that seven great Chinese cities had fallen to Japan and that Japan held the key to the disposal of China.

Grenada Farmers Promote Terracing Demonstrations

(By J. L. COOLEY)

Through the cooperation of Grenada County farmers and the Mississippi Road Supply Company a "Power Terracing Unit has been obtained to conduct a series of terracing demonstrations on the days and farms as listed below.

At the lest session of the State Legislature an act was passed which permits our County Board of Supervisors to acquire this terracing equipment for our farmers without increasing the tax levies. Only the farmers that use this equipment pay for it.

Under our present A A A Farm Program, our farmers will lose approximately $9,000.00 in soil building payments uness they earn it by conducting the soil building practices of planting winter legume crops or terracing. These soil building payments pay 7 cents per hundred feet for the construction of terraces. The actual construction cost with a power unit on an average, ranges from 33 cents to 65 per 100 feet. Our farmers now have an opportunity to terrace their farms at very little expense.

All farmers should arrange to visit these demonstrations and observe this power unit on an average, ranges from 33 cents to 65 cents per hundred feet (or approximately $1 to $2 per acre.) Our farmers now have a opportunity to terrace their farms at very little expense.

All farmers should arrange to visit these demonstrations and observe this power unit constructing terraces at such a low cost.

Demonstrations have been arranged the remainder of this week and through our next week as follows:

Friday November 4—on the farm of W .O. Geeslin east of Elliott.

Saturday, November 5— on the farm of C. L. Trussell, east of Gore Springs.

Mrs. Julia Anne Rochelle Greenhaw, the deceased was born at Germantown, Tenn., Nov. 8, 1851. She died at her home in Grenada, Nov. 1, 1938, at 6 p. m. She would have been 87 years old next Tuesday.

On March 3, 1871, she was married to the late J. E. Greenhaw, a soldier of the Confederacy, serving under General Forest. More than 50 years ago they moved to Grenada and since that time this place has been their home. Moore, of Lake Charles, La., Mrs. Mary Greenhaw, and Mrs. John H. Murray, both of Grenada. There are 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Greenhaw has been a church member since early in life and has been a member of the local Methodist church approximately fifty years.

This brief sketch is a mere outline of a good life well lived. It would take the enumeration of many noble deeds, the recounting of many lovable virtues, and the details of a life of unselfish devotion to her family, loyalty to her friends, and faithfulness to her Lord and Master to fill in the outline and make the picture complete.

ZOO BABOONS TAKE UP SENTRY POSTS AT NIGHT

CHICAGO—Monkey island at the Brookfield zoo is guarded nightly by eagle-eyed, tireless baboons.

This was disclosed today by Robert Bean, assistant director who made the discovery during moonlight trips through the park. To his way of thinking, the habit is a throwback to the jungle days of the animals when vigilance was the price of life and limb.

The military night sentries, Bean said, appear at their posts on each of the island's four peaks soon after sundown and remain alert constantly, even after the others are fast asleep.

Fact that different animals appeared from time to time led Bean to the conclusion that the baboons take turns on a system likely worked out by the commander of the tribe.

ICE AGE FOSSIL FOUND IN OHIO GRAVTL PIT

CINCINNATI, O.—A fosil thigh bone of an elephant-like animal that roamed Ohio more than 40,000 years ago was found in a gravel pit here.

The bone, measuring 3 feet in length and weighing approximately 75 pounds, was unearthed 25 feet underground on property owned by William H. Barber, who donated it to the University of Cincinnati.

According to university museum officials, the gravel pit from which the fossil was taken was laid down during the last of the glacial epochs of the Ice Age.

Bride 10, Husband 34 Move Into Two Room Log Cabin

(By United Press)

lumbus, 10-year-old bride, and her husband, Fleming Tackett, 34, a coal miner, moved into a two-room log cabin in the back-hills with her parents, two brothers, a sister and "some in-laws."

She is a flaxen-haired, slender mountain girl, described by neighbors as "just a baby." Tackett is tall and husky. The Rev. W. G. Ratliff, a blacksmith, married them Monday night. Coal-blackened miners and the bride's family were witnesses.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Grace Columbus, obtained the licenses for the marriage last week from A. B. Meade, Floyd county clerk.

"She told me her daughter was 14," he said. "That's all I know about it. Kentucky law provides that the bride shall be no less than 14."

However, Dr. L. B. Shepard, Health Officed of Johnson county, where the child was born, said his records showed she is 10.

Her birth record says she was born February 12, 1928," he said. "We are checking it with State Department records at Louisville before taking action."

At her wedding, the girl wore white cotton stockings, rough sandals and a plain gingham dress. One of her neighbors described the wedding and added:

"They're moved into a cabin with Rosie's pa and ma and brothers and sisters and some 'in-laws'."

Former Sheriff Jailed Again

TUPELO — Lalmer Blaylick, former Pontotoc County Sheriff who feared his health would be impaired if he remained in jail until his trial on charges of slaying a farmer with a butcher knife, was returned to his cell today.

Charged with killing Frank Wooten, a tenant farmer, last July 4, Blaylock was denied bail yesterday after he sought release because of illness.

He was paroled eight years ago after serving two years for the murder of Pontotoc night marshal Jake Jackson.

Hitler - Mussolini To Settle Question

FRANCE, Czechoslovakia — Czechoslovakia looked to Adolf Hitler and Bemito Mussolini today for a settlement of her territorial dispute with Hungary.

The government proposed these nations to Hungary as arbiters last night and, according to reports from Budapest, the Hungarian government already has approached them. Copies of the Czech proposal were sent to Berlin and Rome.

The proposal was interpreted as plainly indicating that Czechoslovakia was confident that Hitler, against whom she mobilized her entire fighting forces to defend the Sudeten areas a month ago, would support her viewpoint as to how much territory should be ceded to Hungary.

Because Mussolini was expected to back the Hungarian claims, it was believed that the government felt the necessity of having a powerful backer to settle the argument with his friend and ally at a minimum price to Czechoslovakia.

F D R Will Aid Power Companies In Defense Interest

WASHINGTON — Administration and utility officials saw in the $2,000,000,000 (B) private utility expansion program a powerful stimulus to economic recovery.

The program, designed to insure ample power resources in event of war, was announced after weeks of discussion between heads of leading public utilities and President Roosevelt's national defense power committee. Under the private "pump-priming" plan, the $2,000,000,000 (B) will be spent over a two-year period—almost three times the annual rate of expenditure by the power systems in the last two years. The plan calls for immediate expenditure of $350,000,000 (M) for equipment and construction.

The program was expected to:

1. Increase employment, reduce relief rolls and thus improve the federal budgetary picture.

2. Accelerate production in the heavy industries, regarded as vitally necessary to the maintenance of recovery.

3. Reopen capital markets and put to work a large portion of the tremendous hoard of idle funds in bank vaults.

4. Stimulate industry in many sections of the country where power resources now are barely adequate.

Although a distinctly friendly atmosphere prevailed the capital wondered whether an era of cooperation between government and the industry was bginning or whether it was only a temporary truce.

C. E. Groesbeck, head of the electric bond and share system, which until recently bitterly contested new deal utility reforms, said the program demonstrates what can be accomplished when government and business "sit around the table in a cooperative spirit." His company recently complied voluntarily to requirements of the utility holding company act.

However, other utility men who attended the conferences, avoided all questions relating to prospects for a more permanent peace.

An official who participated in the conferences said the utility heads were at first disinclined to participate in any broad program.

Then, according to his official, the national defense power committee, sent out questionnaires to factories and other power-users in strategic centers in an effort to learn their peace-time power requirements; their power requirements if they operated at full capacity, and their available sources of reserve power.

The supply showed that existing power-generating capactities were being used "up to the hilt" despite the comparatively low rate of industrial operations.

Members of the national defense power committee pictured to the utility officials the desperate need that would arise for power when recovery is fully realized and the critical situation that would result if war came with its abnormal boost in industrial production.

The committee assured them that the government was ready to help them finance a construction program through the reconstruction finance corporation in the interests of national defense. It was on this basis, the official said, that the two sides were able to get together.

Radio Drama Causes Most Serious Alarm

PRESS-SCIMITAR STARTED EXTRA

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The editorial staff of The Press-Scimitar rushed to work last night to get out an extra edition on the invasion of the world by the Warriors from Mars.

The managing editor, city editor and several reporters sped to the newspaper building after receiving wild reports that "cities are being bombed."

"One man called that Chicago had been bombed and then St. Louis and that Memphis would be next," the city editor commented.

The scare was caused by a broadcast carried over Columbia Network.

NEW YORK—The Federal Communication Commission investigated a radio program today which caused thousands of persons in every part of the country to believe that the Eastern United States had been invaded by creatures from the Planet Mars in the first engagement of a "war of the worlds."

The hysteria following the half hour radio dramatic program swamped police and newspapers of New York City and of New Jersey towns and cities where the Martian adventurers were said to have landed, killing thousands of persons after they left their space rocket.

But it was not limited to the east. In Indianapolis, an unidentified woman ran down the main isle of St. Paul's Episcopal church, crying: "The world is coming to an end." The congregation was hastily dismissed.

In Toledo, O., three persons fainted at telephones while trying to call police.

In Chicago, persons ran out of restaurants without finishing their meals.

In Salt Lake City, residents packed their belongings and were only dissuaded from fleeing their homes by proof that it was all just entertainment.

But in the east, in the country being subjected to the "invasion," hysteria ran riot. Several persons came forward to swear they saw the rocket land and "strange creatures" climb out of it. In Newark, N. J., hundreds fled from two city blocks, carrying what possessions they could snatch up in their flight. Police cars screamed through the streets of a score of towns, responding to frenzied alarms.

The reaction was bitter and the Columbia Broadcasting System on whose Network the program—a dramatization of H. G. Well's novel, "The War of the World"—was broadcast, was inundated with protest telegrams and telephone calls and its press department was busy with explanations and apologies.

In Washington, Frank R. McNinch, Chairman of th Federal Communications Commission, announced that he would investigate at once. He said he had received no complaints, but that the Commission could investigate without having received complaints.

G. H. S. Bulldogs Defeat Sardis

By Pete Lambert)

Last night a hard fighting Sardis eleven went down in defeat before the mighty onslaught of the powerful G. H. S. Bulldogs.

Playing before a surprisingly small crowd, the Bulldogs scored a touchdown in each of the four quarters to win 24-0.

Showing some of their old time form the Dogs started to clicking from the opening kickoff. They showed class last night, that can't be denied, still I don't think they played the football they're capable of playing.

Robert Murphy's brillance of play made up for the bobbles they made. Taking command of his team from the start, he did one of the est jobs of quarterbacking these eyes have ever seen. At tims, without any blocking whatever, Murphy tore through the line for good gains, passed right well, and the few times he had to punt, he got off nice punts.

They got off to a fast start in the first quarter, scoring in the first few minutes of play. The same thing happened in the second quarter, but after these touchdowns they seemed as if they sat back and took things easy.

Only once did Sardis threaten and this wasn't very dangerous. With the ball in their possession on their own 35 yard line, they completed a beautiful pass to the Grenada 30 yard marker. Just after this play, the half ended and they never came close to the Dog's goal line thereafter.

Aside from Murphy's playing, little Gus Hodges had a field day in this game. Time and time again he delivered with good yardage. Just like a field mouse he broke away from would-be tacklers, scampered into the arms of another, break away again and wouldn't halt until it was impossible to go any further.

Sardis was powerless on running plays, due to the great work of the entire defensive line. They were powerless in everything they tried, chalking up only one first down. They never lacked the fight that makes football teams, but they were outclassed in football material.

Coach Hathorn used many, if not all of his scrubs, and I think he uncovered a potential fullback. Bedford Thompson replaced Brunson during the last half just in time to score. He handled his position as if he was used to it, playing headsup football all the time. Plowing the line numerous of times for good gains, he shared the honors with the rest of them.

With Paul "Chatter-Box" Lockett, Edgar Brunson and Billie Betz bolstering the center of our line, we should have the strongest defensive forewalls in our district. In the games of the past they have made that most impossible for the opposing team to penetrate the center for any gains. Last night they did make it impossible as Sardis didn't make a first down through them.

With their fifth victory tucked away in the bag, the Bulldogs are primed for their meeting with the Water Valley Yellowjackets next week. You can always depend on Water Valley having a good team and this year they have, this game should be a thriller.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN BUILD EIGHT-ROOM HOUSE

(By United Press)

AMBOY, O.—Mrs. Nellie Schlaich, who can drive a nail or saw a board "as well as any man," is building her own home near here.

Since her husband died before he had completed the home they were building, Mrs. Schlaich has done the work, aided only by her children.

Clad in overalls, the woman carpenter works on the eight-room structure, which her husband began two years ago.

"I don't see why a woman isn't just as capable of building a house as a man," she said. "Of course men are more suited to handling heavy timbers, but a woman can saw and plane just as well."

Mrs. Schlaich's children, Teddy, 19, Tom, 15, Robert, 10, and even 7-year-old Donald, help her with the housebuilding, the milking of their two cows and the caring for the chickens and a large garden.

Motorists In Four States Back Drive Against Tax Abuse

(By E. E. DUFFY)

Led by motorists who pay the bill, campaigns are being conducted in four states for the adoption of constitutional amendments which would confine expenditures of motor revenues to highway purposes only. These proposals are being voted on in November in Alabama, California, Michigan and New Hampshire.

Of the four states, Alabama and California are suffering from division of motor revenues to non-highway purposes. In Michigan and New Hampshire the amendments are precautionary measures.

Gar Wood, well-known motor boat racer and general chairman of the Michigan campaign, recently issued this statement:

"Motorists are primarily general taxpayers. They pay property, school, and sales taxes, just like any other citizen. But, as motorists, they also pay special additional taxes for highways, roads and streets. There is no guaranty today that these additional taxes will be used for such purposes. The Good Roads Amendment provides this guaranty."

In pointing out the necessity of protecting highway funds by constitutional amendment, the Michigan Good Roads Federation has stated: "Laws that ear-mark motorists' taxes for highways are easily changed. More than 100 attempts have been made in and out of the legislature in ten years to use highway taxes for non-highway purposes. Similar laws have been ignored in other states and highway funds have been dissipated while highways suffered."

Colorado, Kansas, Missouri and Minnesota have constitutional amendments against diversion. Where the issue has been unclouded, voters have always approved such amendments.

In ten years one billion dollars of motor tax money has been taken away from highways. This is sufficient money to have built modern four-lane divided highways for safer travel between Boston and New York, New York and Washington, Chicago and Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis, St. Louis and New Orleans, Chicago, Indianapolis and Cincinnati, Chicago to Minneapolis, Atlanta to New Orleans, Atlanta to Miami, and Los Angeles to Seattle.

Six Killed In Bus-Car Crash

JACKSON, Miss.—The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol today investigated a bus-automobile accident which killed six persons and injured several others near Bynan, nine miles south of here.

The dead were:

Paul Gaines, 42, New Orleans, driver of the bus.

J. C. Evans, 20, Brookhaven, creamery employee.

Mrs. J. C. Evans, 17

Mrs Martin Walker, 35, Brookhaven.

Miss Jewel Walker, 16, her daughter.

Miss Annie Ruth Albritton, 17, Brookhaven.

Gaines was the only bus occupant who was killed. Injured passengers included Max Feinstein, 43, Crystal Springs, shirt factory manager; Mrs. Beatrice Boyette, 44, Jackson; Miss Nerine Wallace, 21, Bogue Chitto, and Mrs. Phil Friend, Jackson.

Evans had borrowed a small roadster to carry Mrs. Walker, her daughter and friends to Jackson to visit her husband. Evans was said to have crashed into the New Orleans-bound Greyhound bus when he swung out of the traffic lane and attempted to pass anoethr car. The roadster and the front of the bus were demolished.

Bodies of the automobile's occupants were badly mangled and were not identified for more than two hours.

CCC YOUTH IN HILLS UNABLE TO START FIRE

(By United Press)

SEASIDE, Ore.—Fred Ladieu, CCC worker, may have had a good CCC training, but he was sadly lacking in that of a Boy Scout.

While wandering about the hills, Ladieu fell, struck his head on a rock, and was knocked unconscious. He came to in the midst of a drenching rain, but found a cave in which to take refuge.

Later he shot a deer, but having no matches and knowing nothing of the fire starting methods of Boy Scouts, he lived off raw venison for two days until searching parties found him.

Roosevelt To Intervene Personally

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Roosevelt will intervene personally today in the railway wage dispute in an effort to avert a threatened strike of nearly 1,000,000 rail workers and to settle serious financial problems confronting that $26,000,000,000 industry.

Called to a White House conference following the report of the President's emergency fact-finding board, were management's and labor's top men—President John J. Pelley of the Association of American Railroads and Chairman George M. Harrison of the Railway Labor Executives Association.

They will discuss with Mr. Roosevelt the emergency board's recommendation that the railroads abandon demands for a 15 percent wage cut, effective Dec. 1, and will study plans for railroad rehabilitation that do not include wage reductions.

One spokesman for the management predicted that rail executives would abandon the wage cut, but prediction could not be confirmed officially.

The fact-finding board's report is not binding on the 139 class I railroads, and rail management has contended that the proposed $250,000,000 annual wage reduction is essential to save the industry from disaster.

The President was expected to pledge again his administration's support for a rail rehabilitation program in the next Congress, and to try to persuade the executive to seek a solution of their problems other than by payroll reductions.

Pullman Porters as Economists

Berkeley, Cal.—University of California debaters who made a 5,000-mile debating tour declare they found Pullman car porters as interested in America's economics ills as they did the audiences at the 11 colleges and universities where they debated.

Blackfoot, Ida.—Orson Manwarning got a $312 award from the state industrial accident board as the result of damages sustainer while walking over the telephone. Manwarning testified that his duties made it necessary for him to make a long distant call to his superior and while talking, lightening struck the telephone wire, followed it to his ear and caused deafness.

Box Car Figures!

There's a term that enriches the American language. It means big figures and derives its significance from the fact that the numbers* everybody sees on the sides of box and other freight cars run high.

It takes box car figures to measure the work our American railroads do. Last year their 1,735,000 freight cars carried 37,992,928 loads amounting to 1,015,586,028 tons of freight a total of 360,620,269,000 ton-miles (tons times miles).

That meant moving 8 tons of freight 350 miles for every man, woman and child in the United States. Or it meant moving 910 tons of freight 350 miles for every employe of the railroads.

Service like that requires many cars of many kinds.

Any way you look at it, our American railroads do a tremendous job of freight transportation, and they also do it mighty well.

The next year will be a very important and crucial one for Grenada County Library. In five years it has grown from nothing to an organization with twenty reading centers and a collection of 3500 volumes. Under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Club, with local support, and government paid salaries, it has become one of the outstanding small libraries in the state.

The baby has now outgrown its swaddling clothes and the time for its legal christening has arrived. Under the new Mississippi Library Law a board of supervisors may establish a County Library with a board of five trustees, appointed the aforesaid group, to take over the governing and development of the library. It is hoped that this step can be taken in the next two months.

Nine book mobiles will be put at the use of the state in 1939. Grenada county stands a good chance to get one of these with about 600 books. The WPA will loan the car and furnish a driver, the community being responsible for its upkeep.

Federal and State aid for schools and libraries are not far off and it is to be hoped that this library will be in a position to accept these aids when they are offered.

Mississippi Forest And Park News

JACKSON, Miss.—Since January 1 through September 30, 3,202 forest fires have been fought by the Mississippi Forest Service in the various counties cooperating in forest fire protection. These fires have burned 82,203 acres, making the average size of all fires 25.76 acres, which represents 2.23 per cent of the area under protection, according to report made by Mr. A. K. Dexter, Chief of Forest Fire Control for the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

Mr Dexter says, "only 9 of the fires were caused by lightning; the balance of the fires being man caused. Incendiary fires are responsible for better than half of the fires occurring, the number being 1,866. Fires of unknown cause are next, with 534, Debris burning is third, with 325 fires. Miscellaneous causes come fourth, with 233 fires. Camp fires caused 36 fires, railroads 32, lumbering 28, and, as stated above, lightning caused 9 fires.

"The area burned over by causes shows that 52,648 acres were lost due to incendiary fires.

"The records indicate that the number of fires, to date, have only been reduced by 118 fires over last year, which proves that continual education towards fire prevention precautions must be carried on in the counties under protection so as to reduce the number of forest fires.

"Due to the extreme dry weather we have experienced the entire season, the damage from forest fire for 1938 has been rather excessive. The fires occurring this fall are exceptionally hard to fight, due to the lack of water in the ground. Many streams are dry now for the first time, which makes it necessary to haul water a long way to combat forest fires. In many parts of the state, the ground is so dry the roots of the trees will burn under the fire line that has been raked around the fire, causing the fire to break out again after it has once been put out. In most cases these fall fires are killing practically all the vegetation on the areas burned over, and even larger trees are being killed.

"In several instances, homes have been lost by woods fires this fall before fire crews were able to report on the job, and fire losses are by far the greatest they have been for several years.

"At this time, when the entire State is suffering from the lack of rain, the Mississippi Forest Service particularly requests that all citizens use great care in the use of fire in the woods. In fact, unless rain is received in the very near future, it is suggested that the burning of new ground and clearing up around fence rows be postponed until after a good general rain.

"The U. S. Weather Bureau of Meridian reports that for September only eighty-nine hundredths of an inch of rain fell. Records for October are not available yet, however, there has been very little rainfall so far."

Last Thursday chapel was conducted by Rev. Huffstatler. His subject was the beauty and value of peaceful conduct. After the prayer, Mr. E. L. Morrow, manager of the Grenada Hosiery Mill, gave a very interesting talk on the subject of silk. Beginning with the silkworm and ending with the finished product, he gave a detailed explanation of the culture, treating, and spining of silk. The twisting of the silk by hand was especially interesting.

Everybody enjoyed the Halloween carnival at the school house Friday evening. CABIN LOST IN FOREST

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Six University of Washington forestry students chanced upon a small cedar cabin in the wild Olympic National forest while fighting a forest fire and entered it to rest. Glancing at newspapers on a table, they found them to be dated December, 1906. They concluded the owner left the cabin 32 years ago and never returned.

Forests Present a High Fire Hazard

Grenada county is experiencing a long period of drought, and consequently the forests and fields present a high fire hazard. A check up on the forest fire records in the office of the county ranger reveals that the majority of the forest fires at the present time are being caused by the carelessness of hunters and smokers. The Forest Service feels that little more care on the part of the hunters and smokers would prevent most of these fires from starting. Persons having negro tenants on their places should caution them about fires when they are possum hunting at night.

Motorists driving along the highways are also cautioned about throwing matches and cigarette stubs out of cars without first making sure they are out. Several fires have been started by motorists on the highways, unintentional on their part which have endangered property in and near Grenada.

A few simple precautions taken by hunters and others in the woods will prevent most of our woods fires at present.

1. Be sure your match is out before you throw it down.
2. Never smoke out game.
3. Never leave a camp fire burning in the woods. See that all the coals are out before leaving it.
4. Use more care in seeing that cigar and cigarette subs are out before disposing of them in dry forest cover or fields.

Acting County Ranger.

Disasters Strike 41 States During Year

Red Cross Aids 420,000 Persons Following Catastrophes

That the past year has not been an easy one for the American Red Cross is shown in a recent report listing disasters necessitating Red Cross relief throughout the United States during the past twelve months.

The report reveals that 129 domestic disasters called for Red Cross aid in 247 counties of 41 states, and that assistance was given to 420,000 persons who were disaster victims.

"That this has been a very active year is obvious when one compares this year's operations with the average of 92 disasters requiring Red Cross aid annually for the past 15 years," Chairman Norman H. Davis said in commenting on the Red Cross Disaster Relief Service report.

These catastrophes included cloudbursts, cyclones, epidemics, fires, floods, forest fires, hailstorms, mine explosions, a school bus accident, a shipwreck, tornadoes, typhoons, and wind storms.

"Disaster relief was the first humanitarian work of the American Red Cross after its organization in 1881," Mr. Davis said. "In the ensuing 57 years the flag of the Red Cross has flown upon every scene of major disaster in the United States. The Red Cross has carried relief—food, clothing, shelter, medical aid, rehabilitation of homes and families—to more than 2,200 scenes of disaster at home and abroad, and has expended over $140,000,000 contributed by the American public in this work of mercy."

The Red Cross policies of relief, the national chairman pointed out, have been established over a period of years through actual experience of its workers in the field. Relief is given on the basis of need of sufferers—not of losses. Loans, he pointed out, are never made, but relief is a gift from the Red Cross in the name of its members and contributors to its work.

"It would not be possible for the Red Cross to carry out such widespread relief activities without the help of thousands of volunteer workers," Mr. Davis said. "Volunteers are the mainstay of the organization, and in the past year's work assistance from many cooperating agencies has made it possible for us to answer the many calls for help."

While relief was being given to victims of natural catastrophes, the Red Cross was not unmindful of the necessity for preparedness plans to meet emergencies that may arise in any American community. Red Cross chapters in hundreds of counties have organized disaster preparedness committees charged with responsibility to map relief plans in advance of need, and to organize resources of communities to prevent duplication of effort and waste of materials when calls for help are received.

These plans are proving especially advantageous in localities subject to frequent floods, tornadoes, or hurricanes, and actual tests of such planning have demonstrated the necessity for such measures.

"The administration of such relief for disaster victims is made possible by annual memberships of millions of Americans in all walks of life," Mr. Davis pointed out. "The extent of Red Cross aid to such sufferers is entirely dependent upon unselfish sharing on the part of all of us."

The owner, after surveying his wrecked garden, inserted the following advertisement in a local newspaper:

"Will the person or persons who stole a dozen large hydrangea blooms about two weeks ago and fifteen more three nights ago from the flower beds in front of No. 62 Elizabeth Street return and get the few remaining blooms?"

Grenada Bulldogs to Play Water Valley

(By High School Reporter)

On Friday night Grenada High School Bulldogs will play Coach Bobby Jones' Water Valley High School team. Although the Water Valley boys have not had a very successful season, they will put up a hard battle against the local boys. There is no justification for the attitude of some of the local fans that this game will be a set-up for Grenada. These two teams have played a similar type of football for several years, and this makes it much harder for the offensive moves of one of the teams to click against the other football attack. For the past several years these teams have put up a real football battle, and another one may be looked for this year. As an added attraction, the Water Valley Band will come down with the football team. It is hoped that a large crowd of local fans will be out to cheer the local boys on.

HELP SUPPORT THE JUNIOR PLAY

In a very short time the Junior class will sponsor a play. The characters of this entertainment will be taken from the people of Grenada. A high standard of excellence has been established for these plays and it may be assured that the one this year will maintain this standard. The funds raised from such an entertainment are always used for a worthy purpose. Only two plays each year are stressed in the school. Of these one is the Senior play; the other, the Junior play. Last year the Juniors sponsored a similar play and those who attended will surely help us in spreading the news about what a wonderful and enjoyable production it was. Besides providing entertainment these school dramas also provide an opportunity for people to try their skill in acting. Whatever the name or character of the Junior melodrama, you may be sure that you will get your money's worth of entertainment by coming to see it.

4-H CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

On Wednesday, October 19, the 4-H Club held a meeting to elect the officers for this year. They were named as follows:

President, Glynn Peeples; vice-president, Ed McCormick; secretary, Kenneth Nail.

This was the largest and because of the many new members present the most important general meeting ever held by the Grenada 4-H Club.

The members of Terracing, Cattle, and Crops Judging teams were partially selected at this meeting. These teams will compete next year at State College and Memphis for Chicago trips and other prizes.

Mention was given to Ed McCormick for having won first place in Sweet Potatoes at the State Fair; for this he will receive a handsome watch.

Mention was also given to the Crops Judging Team composed of Kenneth Nail, Earl Litten, and Coach, Glynn Peeples. This team won honors at the Tri-State Fair.

The 4-H Club extended an invitation to everyone to attend the two hour program at the Grenada Theatre on Friday, October 28. The free show started at 1 p. m., and continued till 3 p. m.

We are always glad to receive reports of the progress of Grenada High School graduates who are Freshmen at various colleges throughout the country. We have received reports of the work of a few of these students.

Etoile Dubard, at Baylor-Belton, Texas, has won distinction in English. Her rating in composition was the highest in the entire freshmen class.

Jewel Pipkin, at Mrs. Wylie's Business School, Memphis, has won recognition for the speed and efficiency she has shown in mastering her class work.

Katherine Jones, at Bowling Green Business University, Kentucky, rated so high in her achievement test that she is not required to take the English work of the commercial course.

Clyde Horn and Shep Warner have won places in the Mississippi State Band.

GIRL RESERVES LUNCHEON

The R's were entertained Wednesday at noon by the G's as a result of the Girl Reserve Membership Drive. Susan Proby, the leader of the G's, was ably assisted in preparing and arranging the luncheon so as to be very enjoyable to the eighty-one Girl Reserves present. Two very interesting games were played—one in which the object was to find a penny, a thimble, and a ring. The lucky finder of the penny, Elizabeth Baker, is to become wealthy soon. Jennie Lee Davis, the ring finder, should be preparing for a wedding soon; as the thimble was not found, it is therefore assumed that all present will not be left "old maids". Another game known as "Automobile" was most enjoyable game played. The luncheon came to an end with the groups singing a peppy song, "Hi Deni Dee".

SENIORS SELECT MOTTO, COLORS

On Tuesday, October 25, the Seniors selected their class motto, colors and flower for this year. The motto selected was "With the ropes of the past we'll ring the bells of the Future." The color chosen were pink and green, and the flower, the pink gladiolas.

Sue Howell: Yes, yes, go on.

Walter: If we couldn't move over. I'm sitting on a nail.

Jack Vance: Let's cut classes and take in the movies.

Robert Murphy: Couldn't do it fellow. I need the sleep.

Mrs. Rose: Why were you delayed at school today, Frank?

Frank Rose: Miss Turner told us to write an essay "Results of Laziness' and I sent up a blank sheet of paper".

Mr. Jackson: This book will do half your work for you.

Robert Horn: Good, I'll take two.

DRAMATIC CLUB MEETS

Last Tuesday morning the Dramatic Club was entertained by a comical playlet entitled "Fun in a Vaudeville Agency." The characters, who are members of the club were as follows:

CAN YOU IMAGINE:

Billy Foster not pestering every one?

These girls without large rolls on top their heads?

Mary Douglas Honeycutt not chewing gum?

Paul Lockett with coal-black hair?

Walter Giffee in a hurry?

Grenada High without Grace Peacock?

Charlie Calloway as tall as Claude Parks?

Claude Parks the size of Charlie C.?

Helen Horton not giggling?

Sue Collins the size of Nadine Moss?

Earl Litten talking as fast as Paul Lockett?

Cleve Griffing smiling at a girl?

Dale Harper with a voice like Frank York?

Joe Thomas not talking of the wonders of this Senior class?

Miss Owens: Who can name some things that did not exist 50 years ago?

Charles Kenwright: I can, Miss Owens. Airplanes, radios, automobiles, and—

Miss Owens: That's right, and what else?

Charles: Me, teacher.

Charline Chapius: What's the matter, Billy?

Billy Foster: (crying) I wasn't invited to the Boston Tea Party.

Mr. Hathorn: Did you ever take chloroform?

James Thomas: No, who teaches it?

CHAPEL PROGRAM

Wednesday, in chapel, after we had sung two songs, Mr. Rundle read Scripture, Ecclesiastes 1:2. The object of his talk was the influence of vanity. He also talked some on the influence that liquor has in the lives of young boys.

Paul Lockett then explained the fundamentals of football (for the benefit of those who do not know the game.) Dale Harper, the captain of the football team, answered questions concerning football.

Two Small Children Burned To Death

A fire which destroyed his home, claimed the lives of two small children of John Eddie Johnson, colored, this morning at an early hour.

The children, ages 5 and two respectively were both girls, named Laura Mae and Virginia. Burial with Fox Funeral Home in charge, was in City cemetery today.

According to reports, Johnson who works at the oil mill had gotten up at an early hour to go to work on one of three shifts at the mill. He had made a fire, before leaving home, and by some means the house caught on fire. His wife was awakened as the roof was falling in, as was one of her older children who escaped with her. She also carried an infant with her to safety.

The Johnson woman and her two surviving children received burns of a severe nature.

The Seniors are continuing publication their poetical fancies on the various ones of the class.

POETRY

The president of our class
Upon our backs has laid the lash.
He makes us work and get in high
He makes all work and let's none by.
Well known his sense of humor is;
You never see him in a fizz.
His morals beyond question are
For he is one to stray not far.
Some boys would think that he is rough
'Tis said of him, he is a bluff.

Earnest in purpose, with heart sincere
His hope is for higher achievements this year
The class president, Joe Thomas by name
Will surely find the path that leads to fame
With very black hair, and eyes of brown
His countenance is ne'er marred by a frown
Unless he thinks of his brother, James
Who his sense of vanity, severely maims.
Joe's only worry is the former Senior class
Whose accomplishments are bound to surpass
When it comes to business and class dues
He never slacks, and let's none refuse.
With Miss Turner as his able guide
His scope of activities is very wide
If his talk seems all of school
'Tis this that uses his time, as a rule,
A clarinet in the Grenada Band he plays
Good, bad, and all in different ways.
His idea—for the year is a very good one
And we know he'll not stop until it's done.

Across the way, merrily comes our Susie,
She is humming the tune to "Flat-foot Floozie"
She carries herself with a queenly air,
And never seems to have a care
She has dark hair and brown eyes that snap
In her work we know she will never nap
She always seems busy, always on the job,
The boys of their senses she will rob.

Miss Susan Proby is a versatile lass
Whose greatest delight is at History class
She's rather tall and a very nice size
And just one look proves she's wondrous wise
Her pride and joy are her alley cats
That compared to Mr. Bailey's are just mere bats,
As sponsor of the football team
She makes all others idle seems.
Her taking ways need cause no alarm
For money in her care is free from harm
With her falsetto voice she always leads,
And the Glee Club goes on to higher deeds,
Her poetic gift we have ignored.
At least, we say, we don't stay bored.
She makes the meter and the rime,
But as for sense—she has not time
Besides these things, she tennis plays,
Or rather, walks the courts in a daze.
Her various talents have no end,
But time is short, so on we wend.

SUE COLLINS

Here comes a damsel with eyes of blue
It can be none other than our own sweet Sue
Although she seems to be in a great hurry
She appears never to have worry.
Although she has an excess of fat
She doesn't seem to care about that.
She has rosy cheeks and light brown hair,
About her there is always a friendly air.

Down the street comes red-headed Paul
A ladies' man and hero in football,
For his strutting we know he has a reason
He has helped to win two games this season
A merry smile, pleasant word has he,
He doesn't mind schoolwork, we can plainly see.
All the girls are very fond of him,
But, sad to say, he doesn't care about them.

ROBERT THE ATHLETE

In the senior class there is a boy,
Who is everybody's pride and joy
Robert, is an all-round athlete.
A type which we very seldom meet
He stands in favor with one and all,
A friend that one can always call,
Good and unselfish in every thought
He does just what he thinks he ought,
He plays baseball better than most,
Yet he never finds time to boast.
In track and basketball he is fine
But in football he can really shine
Robert is tall and a very good size
He shuns the ladies, which is very wise,
He sings songs in a melodious way
But enough of Robert for one day.

"LITTLE HONEY"

Her friends all call her "Little Honey"
Now maybe you think that this is funny;
But really this is not a shame
For she exactly fits the name;
Her hair is long and curls just right
It's also blonde, but not too light;
She carries herself with such good grace
And she really has an attractive face;
She talks a lot, but that's no sin
For who doesn't talk every now and then.
Her clothes are always nice and neat,
And tiny shoes adorn her feet;
Her skin is smooth, without a blemish
And now this description I do finish.

SAN FRANCISCO — Wendell Brabham, 40, knocked out in a street fight, insists he has a joke on the doctors who assigned him to the morgue as dead. He told a municipal judge that the physicians merely turned up his eyelid to see if there were any reflexes and there were none. He showed it to the judge who admitted that it would fool anybody.

Cotton Notes

NEW YORK—Informed cotton trade quarters report that large merchandisers of cotton are not stocking up at this time, as is their usual custom. On the contrary, they are liquidating their holdings. Discounts in forward months are proving discouraging to acquisition of cotton for stock.

The November government crop estimate will be released November 3, election day, in keeping with a previous decision of W. F. Callander, Chairman of the crop reporting board. The New Orleans exchange will be the only domestic cotton market operating that day.

Callander based his decision on the fact that election day is not a national legal holiday.

Levings In Lieutenant Governor's Race

MOORHEAD, Miss. — Nelson Trimble Levings, well known citizen of Moorhead, today formally announced his candidacy for the Lieutenant Governorship of Mississippi.

A cotton farmer, Levings' announcement will be a source of gratification to his many friends throughout the state. He attended school at Moorhead, Greenville Military Academy, Mississippi Heights Academy at Blue Mountain, and the University of Virginia.

Coming from a long line of distinguished forbears, he is a direct descendant of Gov. Thomas Nelson Jr., who was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and of the late Hon. Robert Trimble, Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. He is a cousin of Hon. South Trimble, Clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives, of the late Hon. Jerry South, farmer Governor of Arkansas, and a family connection of the late beloved Hon. William McWillie, Governor of Mississippi from 1857 to 1859.

Colonel Levings, a member of the military staff of Gov. Hugh White, has long been active both in state and national Democratic politics. He has attended four national Democratic conventions. He is well and favorably known and regarded highly by the National Democratic Chairman, the Hon. James A. Farley, with and four whom he worked during the Roosevelt campaigns, covering the middle western states.

Colonel Levings is at present in Washington, D. C. He has been in the capitol attending the recent conference on cotton, which conference is endeavoring to obtain an increase by the Federal Government in the cotton subsidy payments.

In discussing his candidacy with a group of Washington newspaper correspondents, Colonel Leavings declared:

"I am inherently impelled to this decision because I feel that I can be of service to the citizenship of Mississippi in general and our framers in particular.

"My observations and studies of economic and political policies operative within and without the state cause me to feel there are many reforms, which when enacted into law, will make not alone for a greater economy in the operation of state government, but for the abatement of inequitable taxes, upon a majority of our people."

"As a candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi, I shall present to the electorate a platform based upon:

1. An old age security payment through a program and policy that will recognize our debt to those who have given their best to the development of our state and its resources.

2. A farm program that will look to an insured price that will return the cost of production together with an equitable profit to our farmers, for the production of our crops. An experimental laboratory to find new uses for cotton.

3. The reframing of the Corrupt Practices Act, now disenfranchising many of our white citizens, by making legal admissibility that the members of each family may vote upon payment of the poll tax by the accredited head of the household.

4. The further development of our tremendous resources of soil, forest, and farms with definite programs for the reforestation of our cut-over piney woods areas and electrification of our farms.

5. The equalization of pay received by the teachers in all schools o fth- state, based upon the service rendered by them for our educational system.

6. The downward revision of our tax rates as applicable, not only to the individual citizen, but also to Mississippi business, with a special study of the inequities of the present sales tax, which now places an undue burden upon the actual necessities and indispensables of life.

7. The establishment of a Veteran's Court in each state where veterans may be heard before a Judge of the Veteran's Court and may be represented by counsel, thus expediting their disability cases and avoiding the delay and red tape now existing.

8. A definite youth program providing opportunity and constructive occupation for our young people.

In conclusion Colonel Levings declared:

"I am announcing at this time because I want my fellow citizens throughout the state to know the program and platform upon which I stand. I pledge them now that I will personally appear in every county and at every cross road to confer with them regarding the perfection of a program and policy which, when enacted into law, will lead our state down the highway to permanent security and prosperity. I shall be glad to hear from my friends."

Chevrolet Takes Big Strides Ahead for 1939

New Aero-stream styled bodies combine with major mechanical improvements to provide new beauty, safety, comfort and operating ease, in the 1939 Chevrolets, presented October 21, and featured at the big auto shows this month. The new models are offered on two chassis, the Master De Luxe and the Master 85, both of which are powered with Chevrolet's famous six-cylinder valve-in-head engine.

A new vacuum gear shift mechanism with steering column control, optional on all models at small extra cost, does 80 per cent of the work of shifting gears. The Master De Luxe series features a new riding system, in which a brand new Chevrolet Knee-Action mechanism is scientifically co-ordinated with new ride stabilizer and double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers to furnish a smooth, soft ride.

Central picture is the new Master De Luxe Sport Sedan. Upper right: front end view of the 1939 car; Upper left: Master De Luxe front suspension unit, complete; Lower left: accessibility and finger-tip ease of operation are two major features of Chevrolet's vacuum gear shift with steering column control; Lower right: As the handbrake on all models is re-located under the cowl, front compartment floor is cleared in cars with vacuum gear shift.

Corn Low, Live Hogs Low, But Cured Meats High, Indicate Essential Soundness of Well Filled Smokehouse.

An opportunity to make profitable use of the good corn crop, to materially advance the live-at-home program and to convert low priced corn into high priced pork products, is available through a combined hog feeding and meat-curing program, thinks J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture.

Reports from all over the state indicate a good corn crop. Experience indicates that the entire crop and more, will be needed before another crop matures, but there are individual and temporary surpluses almost everywhere, and the low prices of corn is discouraging to farmers.

Not within two decades has Mississippi produced enough pork for home needs, agricultural statistics show, but the price of hogs on the live-weight basis like the price of corn, is none too attractive. Meanwhile, farmers of Mississippi buy multiplied thousands of dollars worth of cured pork products annually, and these are high priced products. To convert the surplus corn into pork, and to cure the pork into quality hams, bacon and lard, is to develop the low priced product into the high priced products.

Difficulties experienced in curing pork in the past have largely been overcome. Not many years ago, warm winter weather, especially in the southern part of the state, caused frequent loss by spoilage. Procedure has been developed so that by the use of ice, pork can be safely cured on the farm. Most farmers, however, have access to one or more of the meat curing plants, and in such instances, the way is clear. Millions of pounds of pork have been cured by these meat curing plants, some of them operating twelve months in the year, and all of them developing high quality products at relatively low cost, without risk of spoilage.

"The necessity that Mississippi farmers produce on their farms the bulk of their requirements of food for the farm family and feed for the farm livestock is emphasized in this year of low value cotton," says Commissioner Holton. "We have a good corn crop and its market value is low. To convert the corn into pork and the pork into cured meat products is to bring the live-at-home program into widespread use, and to add many many dollars to the farm income for the coming year."

Louisiana Bars Mississippi Milk

KENTWOOD, La.—A blockade against Mississippi milk was enforced today over protests of New Orleans creameries.

Chairman Henry Verdon of the State Milk Board reports that milk had been dumped because shippers refused to join a Louisiana dairymen's union.

"We've just started to enforce the 1932 milk law," he said. "According to the law, milk from other states was to be brought into Louisiana in standard milk containers. Some New Orleans creameries have been jumping this law and bootlegging milk in tank trucks."

The act permits the confiscation of milk carried in containers which do not bear tags certifying that sanitary and health standards have been met. Verdon did not know how much milk had been dumped or turned back at the state line since Tuesday when the blockade was started.

At New Orleans, Salvadore Cetanni, operator of a creamery charged that the milk board was trying to force creameries into using Louisiana milk. Other operators said information was necessary to remedy a shortage in Louisiana.

AAA CHECKS ARE MAILED

JACKSON, Miss.—State AAA Administrator T. M. Patterson said today more than $1,500,000 (M) in price adjustment payments on 1937 cotton was ready to be paid to growers.

Checks totaling $11,547,940 (M) have been sent to 246,299 growers, Patterson said farmers would receive acreage allotments for 1939 by Dec. 1.

STATE LINES CRUMBLE

(By J. E. JONES)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A living wage, and higher wages are the underlying principles of the pay-hour law. The provisions of the act are puzzling, obscure—and thousands of questions about them are still waiting answers from the office of the Administrator in Washington.

The Wage-Hour law is assailed on entirely different grounds, as an encroachment of State rights. It reaches out and asserts the authority of interstate commerce over all classes of business, thus denying the authority and rights of the State to supervise its domestic affairs and industries as those states have done in the past century and a half.

No wonder Mayor LaGuardia of New York City, with many years experience as a Member of Congress, recently expressed the opinion that "no State in the Union can stand alone," without he help of the Federal Government. This seems to be true.

It is because the states have allowed their lines to crumble.

ONE MAN'S DIARY SERVES AS LIBRARY FOR TOWN

ROBINSON, Ill.—Residents of Robinson who want information on daily weather conditions, politics or catasstrophes during the past 55 years don't need a library.

They just ask Sam J. Barrick, If he doesn't remember off-hand he can find the answer in his diary.

Since Feb. 26, 1883, Barrick has kept a diary which includes, in addition to personal affairs, references to events of public interest or importance.

CARE OF FURS AND OF FUR-TRIMMED GARMENTS

The greatest detriments to fur garments or fur trimming are frictoin, moths, heat, and light, according to Miss Ouida Midkiff, extension clothing specialist.

"The wear and continued good appearance of fur on a coat or of a fur coat," she says, "depend on the care that it gets. Any heat, including sunshine, draws the oils out of the leather pelts of the fur and makes it hard and dry. Light actually fades dark furs and makes white furs yellow. 9 fur garment should be cleaned by an expert with equipment for tumbling it in a drum with specially treated sawdust until it is clean. If the lining is very soiled he takes it out and dry-leans it separately.

"Moths fly the year round in our modern heated houses. As they seem particularly fond of fur, garments made of it or trimmed with it require constant watching, even in winter when they are in daily use. Occasional brushing and airing will help to dislodge any moth eggs that might be laid in the fur.

"If a fur coat or the fur on a coat gets wet, it should be gently wiped with a Turkish towel along the flow of the fur. Hold it by the hem and shake it well. Hang on a padded hanger in a doorway or somewhere else that has a good circulation of air. Never hang it near a radiator or other heat, or in a very hot room.

"Fur coats sometimes show worn, bare spots on one side where the wearer has always carried a purse. The left sleeve may hav such a spot if the wearer drives a car and rests the left arm on the car door. Rubbing on the steering wheel may wear the fur cuffs badly, just as a hat brim that is too long in the back will wear off the fur of a beautiful collor. One should never sit down in a fur coat without unbuttoning it to ease the strain on buttons and seams and shrugging the shoulders slightly to lift it a little. This prevents development of baggy places.

"Fur coats, scarfs and trimming may be combed very gently with the flow of the hair to prevent matting. This means in the direction the hairs point.

"When a fur coat is made up as cheaply as possible, often from inferior grades of fur, it may not be properly reinforced with thin cloth tacked or cemented on the back to relieve strain on the leather. This is always done with the more expensive furs. So we should give extra care to a low-priced coat that is made of any of the less durable furs."

Dr. Avent In Philadelphia At Medical Meet

Dr. J. K. Avent, prominent local physician and surgeon, is in Philadelphia attending a meeting of the International Medical Associations.

Being pressed for time, Dr. Avent motored to Memphis yesterday in company with his wife and children, Buddy and Louise. He boarded a trasport plane there immediately and telephoned Mrs. Avent from Philadelphia last night, stating he had a most enjoyable trip. M. C. Thurmond, brother of Mrs. Avent, met him at the Philadelphia airport. In Washington, D. C., where the Doctor changed planes he was greeted by a number of Grenada friends who reside in Washington.

Cycle Fatalities Soar

Sacramento, Cal.—The bicycle is becoming almost as dangerous as the automobile, especially when ridden at night, according to Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California Highway patrol. His statistics show that during the first half of 1938, 750 school children were killed or injured while riding bicyles at night.

Buick Has Record Breaking Sales

FLINT, Mich.—Continued record breaking sales of its new models featured operations of the Buick division of General Motors during the second 10 days of October, with domestic retail deliveries totaling 6,697, a new high for the period. This compared with 5,752 deliveries in the corresponding period last year a gain of 16 per cent.

During the 10 days, orders for the new cars exceeded deliveries by more than 2,000 with the bank of business in the hands of dealers at an all time high for this season. The new cars were publicly announced October 8.

Meanwhile, assembly operations at the factory were keyed to the heavy demand with shipments going forward in volume to speed deliveries to customers. According to W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager, deliveries of the new cars since October 1st have exceeded shipments with some reduction in field stocks and an increase in unfilled orders. He said increased schedules at the factory, now in effect, are designed to balance this condition.

The executive said that used car sales are considerably over this period a year ago while stocks are lower. In addition, he said, used car stocks are turning over on a 30 days basis against a 36-day turnover at this time last year.

After all, you don't fertilize crops for the crops' sake. You fertilize them for INCREASED RETURN TO YOU. Check your harvest and see if potash had a chance to increase your 1938 income. Rusted cotton, low yields and poor quality of tobacco, corn, vegetable, fruit, and legume crops result if the soil and fertilizer do not supply enough potash.

It is not too early to be laying your plans for more income from potash next year. Talk over with your county agent or experiment station your yields this year as compared with what you can expect from your soil if given the right amount of the right fertilizer for the crops which you will plant next spring. Ask your dealer or manufacturer about fertilizers high in potash. You will be surprised how little extra it costs to apply enough potash.

Write us for further information and literature on the profitable fertilization of Southern crops.

Gracie Allen To Broadcast Musical Extravaganza

On Friday evening, November 4, radio listeners from Coast to Coast might as well expect to be carried away in ecestasies over a original musical play of love and romance by Gracie Allen. Gracie has named her tuneful production "Three Loves Has Gracie of 1938." She says it will combine the lyric beauty of "I Married An Angel," the keenness of "Pins and Needles," the breathless ecstasy of "B—'s a Poppin," and, so far as her own performances goes, the combined appeal of "Victoria Regina" (Helen Hayes) and "Madam Capet" ((Eva Le Gallienne). And, Oh yes, she also adds that there will be a little bit of "You Never Know," but not a sign of Clifton Webb or Lupe Valez.

That is about all the information the erstwhile prima donna would divulge. She wants it known, however, that two of Hollywood's leading musical comedy writers have worked day and night on the book—the rumor is that during the long hours of preparation Gracie would get the boys all mixed up during the day outlining the plot and it would take them most of the night to make any sense out of it. She also used two script writers and letters of advice from Beatrice Fairfax, Dorothy Dix and Dale Carnegie.

Other leading characters in Gracie's big musical show, in addition to Gracie herself—that is, if they can get a word in, will be George Burns, Tony Martin, Paul Douglas, Ray Noble and a youngster named Dan Cupid, whom Gracie has engaged sight unseen because a Hollywood agent told her he would add a great deal to the love interest.

So, our advice is, don't miss the season's biggest musical hit—Gracie says it is sure to be a hit because her mother told her so. Tune in on Burns & Allen Friday night and be carried away.

Search For Flier

(By United Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—A National Guard airplane planned another flight today to Northeast Arkansas to search for W. H. Proctor, 26, a private pilot who has been unreported since October 24.

Proctor's father reported that the flier left Little Rock 10 days ago on a pleasure flight to St. Louis and Chicago and had not been heard from. It was feared he had crashed somewhere in the North Arkansas hills.

Proctor was flying a small yellow Aeronca plane. He received a private license about eight months ago.

The National Guard plane, piloted by Ellis Fagan, made a flight to the Missouri state line yesterday but found no trace of the missing ship. F. A. Franklin, manager of the Little Rock airport, also planned a flight over the region today.

Proctor's home is at Texarkana.
